Past performance is not indicative of future results. Investment in any strategy involves a risk of loss which may partly be due to exchange rate fluctuations. The performance results shown, whether net or gross of investment management fees, reflect the reinvestment of dividends and/or income and other earnings. Any gross of fees performance does not include fees and charges and these can have a material detrimental effect on the performance of an investment.

FUND MANAGER COMMENTS

The global macro backdrop remained resilient in June as easing Middle East tensions reduced fears of a prolonged energy shock. Against this backdrop, the portfolio delivered a positive return. Equities contributed positively despite flat global markets, benefiting from the portfolio's exposure to areas that outperformed as market leadership broadened. Total return strategies contributed positively, led by relative-value equity positions and a quantitative currency strategy, but Korean and Nasdaq option positions gave back some recent gains. Fixed income delivered a modest positive contribution, led by convertible bond and high yield holdings, while real assets detracted slightly as easing geopolitical tensions reduced commodity prices, offsetting infrastructure gains. Portfolio activity focused on modest risk recalibration, trimming equity and commodity exposures after strong performance while adding option-based protection against volatility in technology-related markets.
