Fund performance is shown for share class 3 and is calculated in US dollars as total return, including reinvested income, gross of fees and expenses. Gross of fees performance results do not reflect the deduction of charges, which will reduce investors' returns. Benchmark performance shown is for EFFR (previously 7-day USD LIBID until 1st October 2020). Past performance is not a guide to future performance. Please note the value of investments and any income from them will fluctuate and is not guaranteed (this may be partly due to exchange rate fluctuations). Investors must read all performance information alongside the full performance information in the KIID.

FUND MANAGER COMMENTS

There was no rate setting meeting for the Federal Reserve in February, so the Fed funds rate remained at 3.5%-3.75%. Headline inflation fell sharply to 2.4%, with the core rate declining to 2.5%, its lowest level in almost five years. There was also a strong rebound in the employment data, as the non-farm payrolls data showed an increase of 130,000 jobs in January, well above expectations for the month. Activity in the portfolio focused on short date maturities out to three months. With uncertainty over the timing and scope of rate cuts from the Fed there was limited value for extension. Floating rate spreads were at the tighter end of recent ranges. The escalation in geopolitical events at month end has led to increased uncertainty on central bank policy, so a cautious approach to term investment will be adopted.
